CHEN REPLIES TO NOTE FROM KELLOGG

Suggests International Commission to Probe Nanking "Affair"

Hankow, April 15—(AP)—An international commission to investigate the Nanking "incident" is proposed by Eugene Chen, Cantonese foreign minister, in his replies to the five power note demanding reparation and apology for the outrages which followed the capture of the Yangtze city by the Cantonese army.

In the replies to the United States and Great Britain, Chen says they "bombed defenseless Nanking." In reply to the British and the French he refers to the bombardment of "defenseless Shamen" foreign settlement at Canton. Otherwise their replies are identical.

While not admitting that nationalist troops were responsible for the Nanking outrages, Chen emphasizes that such incidents will occur as long as unequal treaties exist.

HAMMER SLAYER WAS HANGED IN CHICAGO TODAY

John Winn One of the Calmest Ever Executed in Cook County

Chicago, April 15—(AP)—John Walter Winn, 49-year-old hammer slayer of Albert Nusbaum, elderly contractor, was hanged today.

One of his last acts was a farewell note to "Grandma" Eliza Nusbaum, who is serving a life sentence for his husband's murder.

In another note he reiterated his innocence and said he was "condemned or another's action."

All Winn asked before starting the death march was "a good cup of coffee." He spent most of the night in conversation with a Salvation Army officer. He thought his spirit would return "to help another," the term which he applied to Mrs. Nusbaum.

Winn, who Warden Fogarty said, was the calmest man who ever occupied the death cell, went to his death without emotion.

Nusbaum was killed, the state charged, because he was the obstacle to the marriage of the aging "Grandma" and the younger Winn. He also carried considerable insurance.

Winn, in his note to "Grandma" said he held no malice toward her for testifying against him.

SHRAPNEL SHOT INTO CANTONESE BY U. S. WARSHIP

Returns Fire of Chinese Soldiers With Four Inch Guns

Washington, April 15—(AP)—The destruction in Nanking, the capital of China, northern troops using their four inch guns, loaded with shrapnel shells and silencing the fire which the Chinese had directed upon the Standard Oil ship Meade.

Official reports to the navy department said the northern troops were entrenched abreast the Ford in the Yangtze river opposite Nanking and had been firing upon the old ship and exchanging shots with Chinese national troops on the Nanking side.

No American comment was forthcoming.

The reply reached the state department but its reply synchronized with press reports of the disastrous radical action taken by the military elements of the Cantonese party at Nanking. No official comment was forthcoming to the future American policy.

Inasmuch as the Hankow government, of which Chen was a member, has been repudiated by the Nanking conference, the status and effectiveness of the exchanges must remain in doubt.

Plan Tag Day to Provide Fund for Memorial Holiday

Members of the Dixon Memorial Association, which will arrange for and provide a suitable program for the annual observance of Memorial or Decoration day in this city, met to discuss plans for the financing of the program next month. None of the proceeds from the tag day is to be distributed to any of the patriotic organization, but all of the money will be placed in the Dixon Memorial Association fund.

WAR BETWEEN CANTONESE IS PROBABLE

Radical and Moderate Factions Split as Tension Grows

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

War between the radical and moderate sections of the Cantonese nationalists in China looms as a distinct possibility.

A conference today at Nanking called by the moderate leader, General Chiang Kai Shek decided to break with the Cantonese extremists at Hankow. It was indicated a new government would be formed at Nanking.

Meanwhile the radicals, meeting at Hankow denounced Chiang and his followers as counter revolutionists.

Human province, southwest of Hankow, is reported in British dispatches to be the scene of "terrible brutalities" among the Chinese, with "a monstrous form of Bolshevism" in control. Red Hunan troops are said to be closing in on Hankow. More American warships have started for Nanking from Shanghai.

Shanghai, April 15—(AP)—Resolutions impeaching the Cantonese government at Hankow were adopted at today's meeting of the Kuomintang (the Cantonese political party) at Nanking. Quo Tai Chi, Cantonese commissioner for foreign affairs here, was advised tonight.

In consequence, General Chiang Kai Shek, Cantonese generalissimo and foe of the extremists in the Cantonese ranks, is expected to establish a new government at Nanking.

The resolutions demanded that moderate leaders be taken into custody as "disturbers of the public order in China," including Michael Borodin, the Russian who has been acting as adviser to the Hankow government; George Chen Tu Hsien, minister of justice; Chen Tu Hsien, member of the Chinese communist party; Tung Ping Shan, minister of agriculture; Tung Yen Tw, notorious agitator and fifteen others.

Eugene Chen, foreign minister, was not named in the resolutions, speaking of course he was not actually communistic, but was the tool of Borodin and the others. How the men named are to be taken into custody was not explained.

The action means a definite split in the Kuomintang ranks.

Increase Naval Force

The Ford at first returned the fire with its machine guns, the report said. The British cruiser Emerald, anchored alongside, also turned its machine guns upon the Chinese. The Chinese ceased firing at the Melan and concentrated upon the Ford which was hit in many places, but suffered no casualties to its crew or material damage to itself.

The action means a definite split in the Kuomintang ranks.

New Chief of Police is at Helm in Chicago Now

Chicago, April 15—(AP)—Michael J. Hughes, "Go get 'em Mike," who came from Ireland when 17 years old, started today the execution of his promise to "drive crooks out of Chicago in 90 days."

It was one of Hughes' first statements when he assumed office as chief of police under Mayor William Hale Thompson. Gunmen, thieves, bootleggers and habitual criminals must go first, then those who thrive on vice and gambling.

The new chief, who in 31 years as a policeman, has received 31 credit marks, said to be a record, declared he though 90 days long enough for routing the criminals.

At the same time Admiral Williams advised that he had ordered three destroyers from Manila to Shanghai.

Circuit Judges Renamed

Three Circuit Judges Renamed by Republicans

Judges Harry Edwards of Lee County, left; Wm. Emerson of Ogle County (right) and Harry Head of Jo Daviess County, the three judges of this, the 15th judicial district, were all unanimously nominated to succeed themselves in office at the judicial convention held yesterday in the Stephenson County Court house at Freeport.

In consequence, General Chiang Kai Shek, Cantonese generalissimo and foe of the extremists in the Cantonese ranks, is expected to establish a new government at Nanking.

The resolutions demanded that moderate leaders be taken into custody as "disturbers of the public order in China," including Michael Borodin, the Russian who has been acting as adviser to the Hankow government; George Chen Tu Hsien, minister of justice; Chen Tu Hsien, member of the Chinese communist party; Tung Ping Shan, minister of agriculture; Tung Yen Tw, notorious agitator and fifteen others.

DOCTORS LEARN MORE OF "DICK" TEST FOR FEVER

Meeting at Tavern on Wednesday One of Great Benefit

The Dixon Physicians' Club held a meeting at the Nachusa Tavern Wednesday Evening, which was attended by visiting doctors from Pole, Oregon, Franklin Grove and Ambler. They were again addressed by Dr. Gladys Dick of McCormick Institute for Tropical Diseases, who together with Dr. J. R. Bides and Dr. S. R. Weiner have been testing patients at the Dixon State Hospital this week.

Dr. Dick demonstrated the technique used in making the test for scarlet fever immunes and gave a very interesting and instructive lecture on the use of the scarlet fever test as well as the use of the antitoxin which is now as efficient in treating this disease as the diphtheria antitoxin has been for diphtheria.

Dr. Dick stated that the vaccine for the prevention of scarlet fever has been used on so many thousands of cases, the results indicating that the immunity acquired by this vaccination will probably last through the susceptible period of life.

The results reported by Dr. Dick were so interesting that the doctors remained to ask questions long after the meeting was adjourned. The information derived by the doctors will be of inestimable value to their patients.

OLD MASTERS

Much have I traveled in the realms of gold,
And many goodly states and kingdoms seen;
Round many western islands have I been
Which bards in fealty to Apollo hold.
Of one wide expanse had I been told.

That deep-browed Homer ruled as his demesne:
Yet did I never breathe its pure serene
Till I heard Chapman speak out loud and bold:

Then felt I like some watcher of the skies
When a new planet swims into his ken;
Or like stout Cortez, when with eagle eyes
He stared at the Pacific—and all his men
Looked at each other with a wild surmise—

Silent, upon a peak in Darien.

The WOMAN'S DAY

By ALLENE SUMNER

Are women more honest than men? England had 6,595 bankruptcy cases last year. Four hundred and forty of them were filed by women. The majority were milliners and dressmakers. Then followed lodging houses, grocers, dry goods merchants, and women's clothing. Of course, the figures prove nothing for honesty or the reverse. It's a matter of proportion. One would need to know how many men and how many women were in business in England that year. But I am inclined to believe that women hesitate to cry that they're licked and howl for mercy in a bankrupt court quite so readily as men. To men it's "good business." To women it's dishonesty with others.

THEY DO WEAR 'EM
Speaking of corsets and how "nobody wears 'em," one corset company alone announces that they did an $87,000,000 business last year. And was that contradicted either? It or the gentleman of the press that reported the item. Maybe they did the business okay, but I wager my new rose hat that he means corsetettes and not corsets. Women are just not that silly, anymore! Yes, there's a difference, a long one!

ARE BEAUTIES HAPPY?
Here's another cookie for thought to cheer at the breakfast table—are beautiful women happy women? The Viscountess Curzon, recognized as one of England's great beauties, says, "I have known many beautiful women and not one of them, I think, is really happy." We've been told that again and again, but how many of us would refuse the chance to just try being beautiful?

LOST HER LEGS

Would you take $35,000 for your feet or legs? That's what Philomena Pisano got the other day. Not because her legs and feet were so pretty on the front row of a chorus, but because her legs and feet were mangled in an accident and had to be removed. Now, according to formula, Philomena should exclaim that not all the money in the world could afford for those missing feet and legs. But Philomena doesn't care. She has just clinched her plans for a career. She is studying at home to be a stenographer and says that she never realized before what a nice family she had. Nevertheless you'll probably conclude, despite your morning grouch, that you're a multi-millionaire!

DIG AT KATHLEEN

"Give real life, rather than sham life a chance and let college go." So writes Kathleen Norris in an article addressed to parents, begging them to see that the workaday world with a job is worth infinitely more to their daughters than the college campus.

Self-education is the only sort worth having," continues she. "Her education will only prove to be a de-moralizing and disintegrating influence upon her character." In other words, Mrs. Norris's summary is that college is okay for rich men's daughters, but all wrong for poor ones. It is difficult to believe that anyone so well-known as Mrs. Norris could offer such poor advice. I wish she would stick to her sentimental, gushy novels!

WASTING THE OUTDOORS

By Olive Robert Barton

A student visiting Paris gave his impression thus of the French capital: "It is a city of garden chairs."

It is true, along the Champs Elysees, on the Avenue du Bois du Bois, and in the Bois itself—along all the boulevards and up at Montparnasse, they are, in evidence by the thousand.

Paris is not the only European city where the sidewalk cafe is a fixture. They distinguish most of the continental metropolis. London and other English cities, like American cities, do not have the habit. It may be on account of rain, for which the British Isles have a fondness.

One cannot account for it otherwise, unless it be the natural reticence of the Englishman to parade his recreation, or that he merely wishes to take his air in the country.

When we think of it, isn't it delightful to eat under the sky? I don't mean picnics particularly, where the cake is likely to taste of coldness and one needs to have pale complexioned pie. I mean that the ants aren't around it, but I mean restaurants in gardens, tea tables against a background of holly-hocks and sodas under the stars.

Americans have a great penchant for staying indoors. A man will spend several hundred thousand dollars and several years building up an estate in the country, then take guests down from the city, feed them in a dining room with landscape painted walls, and entertain them with bridge or billiards in a room like a ratskeller.

We have progressed without doubt. Our devotion to outdoor sports is proof enough. But still we do not have the outdoor habit. Every back yard is a potential garden. It would add another room to our house. Grass and flowers are a cheap carpet, and quick growing shade trees and shrubs are certainly worth while furniture. Nothing gives us the return that growing things do.

Another thing! We did use to put porches on houses and sit on them. Now we box them in or leave them off! Why?

"UNCLE JIMMIE" PANKHURST GAVE $1000 TO CORPS

The W. R. C. building in Amboy Thursday was the scene of a most interesting and happy occasion. It marked the celebrating of the birthday anniversary of J. W. Pankhurst, of Temperance Hill, beloved by everyone who knows him. In attendance at the celebration were Mrs. James Pankhurst of Grand Detour, whose late husband, Dr. Pankhurst, was a cousin of J. W. Pankhurst, and A. H. Sheffield, also of Grand Detour.

These present numbered about fifty and at noonday all were seated at tables decorated with beautiful flowers and laden with choice food, in honor of the occasion. There were several most attractive and delicious birthday cakes, decorated with flags.

After the dinner a meeting was held in the W. R. C. rooms where some short business transactions and music and several talks by different members took place and where a number of those present in their speeches took this opportunity to congratulate "Uncle Jimmie" on his birthday and to wish him many happy birthday returns.

Mrs. Pankhurst then made a gracious little talk thanking his friends for their interest and affection in his welfare. As he seated them he had designated and delegated by James W. Pankhurst to give to the W. R. C. of Amboy the sum of one thousand dollars. The delight and appreciation of the Corps members cannot well be described; but they most assuredly appreciate the kindness and generosity of their friend.

A STATUE FOR A HEROINE.

A group of highly interesting bits of sculpture has been on display in New York recently. It is made up of pieces offered in competition for a prize for the best portrayal of "The Pioneer Woman."

Among the figures submitted, as might be expected, are many diverse conceptions. One artist shows the pioneer woman as a lithe, sinewy girl in flowing draperies; another as a bent, haggard old woman, worn out by toil; another as a buxom, motherly sort of goddess, serene and untroubled.

We don't know which piece the judges will select. Probably, no matter which statue is selected, a lot of people will criticize it. Yet it is a good thing that the competition is being held; it serves to remind us of the debt that we owe to the pioneer women of America.

The pioneer woman has been neglected in our histories. Hers is the epic that has been but poorly written, the tragedy that too often goes unsung.

We have waxed eloquent about the bearded, two-fisted men who crossed the great plains in the gold rush of '49; about the brawny old adventurers who blazed the trail to Oregon and the northwest; about the gaunt woodsmen who opened up Kentucky and the rich middle west in the days when Washington still lived. All of these men have been given their due.

But when have we paused to consider that the American frontier was never a womanless frontier?

The men whose axes cleared away the forests of Indiana and Ohio were doughty heroes, surely. But they had wives; and these wives lived in bare cabins, bore and reared big families, cultivated gardens, made clothes and endured hunger, pain and danger without limit. The long trek across the plains was heroic and magnificent, of course; but there were women in those covered wagons, as well as men, sharing the difficulties in even greater measure.

The pioneer woman had all the worst of it, as a matter of fact. The thrills and savage joys of the adventure were not for her; plain drudgery, dreariness and a closely-limited horizon were her lot. She gave birth to her children in a rude hut, usually without any medical attention; she got up and resumed her heavy daily duties a few days later, uncomplaining and persevering.

She is not the romantic, heroic figure the male pioneer is. There is little of romance about a woman grown old and haggard at 35, with a bent back and stringy gray hair and a deep lined, hopeless face. Yet she deserves the high tribute of a nation, none the less.

She, as much as the tall rifleman in buckskin leggings and broad-brimmed hat, gave us our west. If a prize statue will help remind us of that fact it will be well.

MUSIC HATH CHARM.

A New York leader whose hand plays with whistles, bells, mechanical pianos, riveting hammers and an airplane, proclaims a recital the other night. The only things that orchestra lacks are a few boilers and the cats from the back yard. . . . The resultant bedlam is known as "Ballet Mechanique." Some of the music auditoriums are planning to install elevated railways to keep up with the new trend. . . . A boiler-maker, having an off night, attended the recital and said, after it was over, he felt as tired as if he had done a day's work. . . . The "ballet" expresses steel, according to the leader. Oh, well, most music is a steal, anyhow. . . . The cop on the corner is letting his hair grow.

SPRING TEMPERATURES.

Spring fever is that universal disease which makes a victim feel low but causes him to run a high temperature when there are screens to paint. . . . Up north it is acquired by feverishly waiting for spring to arrive. . . . Spring fever has been especially virulent the last few years, since people quit sleeping night. . . . The tired business man who sits next to an open window these days and sees a display of fishing tackle across the street, is exposing himself to the germ.

THE TINYMITES

STORY BY HAL COCHRAN — PICTURES BY KNICK

READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE!

The Times joined the milking at close of day, the task was done, and on their way they gayly played. She led them to an open field where stood a bossy cow. The cow glanced up and saw the crowd, and then she quickly moored real loud. Wee Clowny stopped and eyed her, with a frown upon his brow. "Oh, she won't hurt you," said the maid. "You really needn't feel afraid." Then Clowny came up closer, but he traveled rather slow. This made the maiden laugh in glee. "You just don't understand," said she. "That moo is just the only way." Not far away a man was found a-puffing something near the ground. The funny things grew on a bush and seemed quite big and green. Right close at hand the whole bunch stayed. Then Scouty said, "Let's give him aid." So soon the man was started as they rushed upon the scene.

"Hello, there, little folks," said he. "Why, sure, I'll let all help me." My back is getting rather tired and tired to my head and neck. Say, Peter Peter is my name. I'm really mighty glad you came. Your offer's kind, to help me pick my peppers by the peck."

Then, with the sinking of the sun,

The Tinymites get some hot-cross buns in the next story.

SAINT and SINNER

In spite of that dramatic climax, Churchill was not through with Mrs. Allbright.

"Now, Mrs. Allbright, will you tell the jury whether you later changed your attitude toward your father's fiance?"

"I—no—I" Mrs. Allbright stammered.

Did you not, on Friday, October 22, pay a friendly call upon Miss Cherry Lane, accepting her as your future stepmother? Churchill asked with a broad smile.

"I called on her—yes" Mrs. Allbright flashed angrily. One trembling hand was raised to touch a wisp of lace handkerchief to her trembling mouth.

"The visit was a pleasant one, a friendly one" Churchill persisted.

"Well—yes. I had decided to make the most of a bad bargain," Mrs. Allbright admitted haughtily.

"Why, Mrs. Allbright?" Churchill asked suddenly.

"I—did not want to be estranged from my father, whom I loved, after his marriage."

When the witness was returned to Banning, the district attorney asked only one question: "You are rich in your own right, are you not, Mrs. Allbright?"

Her answer given haughtily, was: "Mr. Allbright is considered a rich man and I inherited a comfortable fortune from my mother."

Mrs. Allbright left the courtroom hastily, joined at the door by her seventeen-year-old debutante daughter, Muriel, also fashionably dressed in mourning for the dead man, her grandfather.

"Call Flo Ripley!" Banning directed.

"What do you live, Miss Ripley?" Banning asked, after the preliminary questions as to name and age.

The pert, hard-faced girl, over-rouged and over-dressed in a tight sleeveless sheath of red satin, her kinkly waved black hair showing beneath a fantastic turban of gold metal cloth, tossed her head as she answered defiantly:

"West Tenth Street—No. 1840."

"Miss Ripley, do you recall the evening of Tuesday, September 28, or rather, the early morning hours of Wednesday, September 29?" Banning asked, referring to notes in his hand.

"Sure I do. I was at Sam Lee's choice joint with Chris Wiley, Flo Ripley answered pertly, drumming upon the arms of the witness chair with highly polished, pointed finger nails.

"Did you see Miss Cherry Lane as the defendant was then known, at Sam Lee's on the night in question?" Banning asked with a smile.

"I—did not want to be estranged from my father, whom I loved, after his marriage."

"Sure I do. I was at Sam Lee's choice joint with Chris Wiley, Flo Ripley answered pertly, drumming upon the arms of the witness chair with highly polished, pointed finger nails.

Hathaway came in," Flo answered readily.

"Go right on with the story of that evening events in your own way, Miss Ripley," Banning smiled.

"Well, me and Chris was dancing, and Sam Lee put on a dancing contest, and Bob Hathaway and Cherry, and four or five other couples was lined up to take part in the contest, and I made Chris trot me out, because I'm a champion Charlestoner."

"Be as brief as possible, Miss Ripley."

"Well, I'm trying to," Flo tossed her head defiantly. "We was just going to begin the Charleston when Cherry Lane saw me and Chris and lit into Chris because he was on a date with me."

"Please give Miss Cherry's exact words as nearly as you can remember them," Banning instructed her, casting a pleased look at the busily scribbling reporter.

THE LIFE OF CHRIST

Joseph of Arimathea, a rich man, secretly a disciple of Jesus, obtained permission from Pilate to take the body from the cross and place it in a new sepulchre, hewn out of rock. (Matthew XXVII : 57-60)

The Resurrection

A great stone was rolled to the door of the tomb and it was sealed. A guard of soldiers was placed over it. (Matthew XXVII : 60-66)

Early on the third day, Mary Magdalene, Mary the mother of James, and Salome, came to the sepulchre. (Mark XVI : 1-3)

They found the huge stone had been rolled away, and on entering an angel said, "Ye seek Jesus . . . He is risen; He is not here; behold the place where they laid Him." (Mark XVI : 4-6)

An Ex-Buck PRIVATE goes back to FRANCE by PAUL ADAMS
© NEA Service

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the ninth chapter in the story of a former veteran who is going back to France as an advance guard of the "Second A. E. F."

Just as the old Roman bridge was demolished, yielding bronze medals bearing the heads of Augustus and Tiberius Caesar in 1787, so was the bridge destroyed in 1918 and rebuilt by the indomitable inhabitants. And as the Germans were stopped in 1918 by American machine gunners, so had the hordes of ancient days been defeated at this spot on the Marne.

The coat of arms of the ancient castle of Chateau Thierry supported this warning under a carving of a turreted tower and branches of holly. Freely translated, this means: "He who touches the holly should beware of its thorns."

Think of it!

At the Hun, sweeping petulantly over Europe, was stopped at Chateau Thierry and Chalons in the fifth century A. D. The village, then called Otrium, was destroyed. It was rebuilt. Since that time, through to the French Revolution and Napoleon, Chateau Thierry has been a battle-ground.

There could be no improvement on the slogan of the ancient defenders of the castle at Chateau Thierry. But for the sake of brevity, it could be changed to: "Hold That Line."

TOMORROW: Believen Wood.

Western States to Have White Easter

Denver, Colo., April 15—(AP)—Rocky Mountain states today faced a white Easter unless warm weather forecasts materialize immediately to melt a heavy snow.

A heavy precipitation from the Canadian border to central New Mexico smothered ranges at Sheridan, Wyoming, under 16 inches of snow.

While the storm was regarded as an add to crops, it interrupted traffic and mail planes.

Arizona reported normal conditions last night, after the unusual cold wave in that section while Montana had little snow, but recorded sharp drops in temperature.

'MONEY OF HOMES' SUBJECT OF COOK- ING SCHOOL TALKS

Edna M. Ferguson Told of Financial Problems of Kitchen

Thursday's session of the Evening Telegraph's Cooking School opened with the lecture room again packed to the doors with eager, interested women, some of whom had arrived as early as 12:30.

The attractive dining room table was set for a formal dinner, the decorations of crystal, silver and pink roses being carried out on the buffet and side table as well as the dining table. The beautiful table damask and napkins came from the Geisenheimer store; the solid silver from Trein's Jewelry store and the lovely pink roses from the Dixon Florist Co. The tall pink tapers in crystal and silver holders were there, perfectly matched in delicate pink, the roses. Miss Ferguson, the lecturer, explained the silver service and complimented the Dixon merchants again on their generosity and cooperation. The beautiful dining table to the set which is loaned by Frank Kreim of the Kreim Furniture Co., was uncovered today, save for dailies, set for a reception, and the natural beauty of the wood was admired.

Money of the Home

Miss Ferguson's lecture Thursday afternoon was of inestimable assistance to the housewife, the subject being "Money of the Home." She talked freely on how to relieve that state of frenzied finance in the home. Her simple method of tabulating was one of the most beneficial hints yet given out. It means money—actual saving of money—to the women of Dixon. She has made a special study of this all important phase of home keeping. Because she has found so many budgeting books for the purpose of budgeting the family income, she set to work on something simple that could be easily worked out in even the busiest housewife.

Miss Ferguson, realizing these facts, gave special attention this afternoon to this phase of home betterment. Her simple tabulation in budgeting the household expenses was a real revelation. "Wise spending," she reiterated, "means studied spending, and studied spending means that the woman who spends must be alert and progressive if she is to carry effectively her share of the burdens of life." She also needs recreation and a small amount of money must be devoted to this.

Question Box Feature

Mr. Trein sent over to the cooking school yesterday a beautiful silver tray to be given as a gift to some lucky woman. Ciedon's candy store sent over a handsomely decorated chocolate egg of huge proportions.

Miss Ferguson laid particular stress yesterday on the diet for children and gave the mothers present ample directions for food and their proportions.

An important feature of the afternoon was the "Question Box." Miss Ferguson answered scores of questions relating to foods and diet in a rapid fire manner with an amazing range of information drawn from her large store house of experience and knowledge in these subjects.

The demonstrations yesterday were fascinating and watched with interest, and were as follows:

RECIPES

Prune Dumplings
Individual Cakes
Soft Custard for Children's Supper

Souk the gelatin in the cold water. Dissolve this in the boiling water. Combine the rice, vanilla and sugar, using two forks. Whip the cream and fold it into the rice mixture. When the dissolved gelatin has cooled add it also. Pour into a cold wet mold. Chill until set, then turn out and serve garnished with fruit.

1/2 cup brown sugar
1/2 cup lemon or sour orange rind and juice

Poll the dough out one-fourth inch thick. Cut into rounds four inches in diameter. In the center lay as many of the prunes as will admit of the edges being brought together. Wet the edge so it will not open. Cook together for a few minutes the prune juice, sugar, shortening, fruit juice and rind. Put the dumplings in the pan while this syrup is boiling. Turn in the oven at 450 degrees and bake about 20 minutes. There should be enough syrup to half cover the dumplings when they are put in. Serve the syrup as a sauce. This is for 8 dumplings.

NOTE: Any cooked fruit may be used.

SANDWICH LOAF
Remove crust from loaf of sandwich bread. Slice the bread lengthwise into four slices. Butter slices on both sides, except top and bottom slices. Put together using red, green and yellow fillings. Cover all over with a paste made by mixing cream cheese and mayonnaise. Decorate and set away in refrigerator for two hours before using.

Ribbon Sandwiches
Remove all crusts from white and brown loaves. Slice half of each loaf lengthwise into half-inch slices. Butter all slices on both sides, except one white and one brown. Put together alternately with cream cheese filling. Roll up in a damp towel or waxed paper and set away in the refrigerator two hours before slicing.

Oregon, Ill.—If former governor Frank O. Lowden gets into the White House as the country's next president there is one thing he won't stand for. He won't permit anybody to call him a "gentleman farmer" and get away with it.

Lowden despises the term.

He is a dirt farmer, a plain one and he wants the whole wide world to know it.

Here at Oregon, 100 miles west of Chicago, Lowden has one of the most scientific agricultural plants in the country.

He calls it "Sennissippi." It's a model farm, 4500 acres in extent and one of the show places of the middle west.

On it the foremost leader of the present day agrarian movements puts his theories of diversified and crop rotation into practice.

"Sennissippi" with its broad acres and herds of blooded stock is more than a hobby with "the governor" as he is known hereabouts.

It's a job and a school for study and experiments.

A true son of the soil, Lowden did not choose farming as a plaything with which to while away idle hours following a lifetime filled with distinction and success.

Instead he reverted to it by instinct. Lowden came from the farm. He was born on one 66 years ago near the hamlet of Sunrise, Minn.

In between times his father was a blacksmith. But the farm and the soil composed the constant Lowden background and continued to do so during the "governor's" youth.

At seven he can distinctly remember following in the wake of prairie schooner which his father used to transport the family and its fortunes from Sunrise to a land of new hope in Iowa.

The trail ended at Pleasant Point, Ia., and here once more in rural surroundings close to the same soil he has always loved, Lowden grew up.

All during the later years when he farmed, rose to places of renown and achieved great wealth in clanking cities, Lowden determined that the day would come when he would go back once more to the soil.

"Sennissippi" is the realization of that resolution.

Here the "Governor" gets first-hand the material on which he bases his advocacy for a co-ordination between agriculture and business as a necessary advance to free agriculture from its impediments.

"Agriculture is sadly out of gear with other parts of the structure," he says. "The main cause of this is generally conceded to be the disparity between prices of the things the farmer has to sell and the prices of those things he must buy.

The farmer must organize for the purpose of marketing his products. Co-operative farm marketing associations are no longer an experiment.

"Where cooperatives have been employed, there you will find agriculture in its best estate."

Lowden points to his own farm as proof of his beliefs.

"Sennissippi," though operated by the best and latest scientific methods, has not shown a profit during the last five years.

Lowden's farm is composed of 11 units, each under the management of a separate tenant. The tenants live with their families on segments of the land and Lowden, believing in co-operation, practices it as a landlord, too.

He shares fifty-fifty with the tenants on what is known as a "livestock basis."

When profits are low or nothing the tenant make a comfortable living and Lowden takes the short end of the deal. When profits are made, the tenant shares in these, but he does not have to share the expenses of overhead.

In all, there are approximately 400 head of thoroughbred Holstein-Friesians.

It is an imposing affair with many rooms.

Here Lowden, whom the corn belt is hailing as its deliverer, loves to sit by an open window overlooking his acres.

The house has a splendid front porch.

"Just the thing from which another front porch campaign," was reminded.

But he only smiled at that, meanwhile running through his fingers some of "Sennissippi's" black and fertile soil.

Cudahy's Puritan Ham

Finer Flavor because

ripened naturally

In Cudahy's Puritan Ham you are assured of finer flavor and greater tenderness because these choice, young meats are prepared by the Cudahy Special method of "ripening naturally."

The rich juices of the meats are slowly and naturally diffused by this special process. There is no forcing or hurrying. The result is like fruit tree-ripened, as compared to fruit artificially ripened.

Puritan Ham is then smoked just right—the final step in the Cudahy method of exacting preparation. Thus Puritan is always uniformly mild, sweet, tender and fine in flavor. There is no need to parboil.

Your Easter menu should include Puritan Ham. You will find it temptingly delicious anyway you serve it. And you will find it most nutritious and easy to digest—a muscle and tissue builder for young and old.

ENCOURAGEMENT FOR FARMERS IS SEEN BY SAVANT

Reasonable Price for Farm Land Cited by Professor

Urbana, Ill., April 15—(AP)—A note of encouragement for farming of the future was sounded here today when Prof. H. C. Case, in charge of farm organization and management at the University of Illinois College of Agriculture, pointed out that land now is selling more nearly on a basis at which a fair return can be received on the investment than has been true for 15 years or more.

Good managers should be able to make money on land valued at the price at which good land is now changing hands as soon as they have a chance to put the farm in productive shape, he said.

"This is not denying, however, that farming as a whole is still at a serious disadvantage compared with other industries, nor is it losing sight of the fact that many who bought land in recent years have lost heavily from the drop in price of lands."

This is the first time that central Illinois land prices have undergone a serious reversal, according to Prof. Case. Up to 1920 land in central Illinois had always advanced in price from decade to decade. The price paid for land was frequently higher than justified by the income from the land, especially from 1910 to 1920 because of the expected further increase in value. This opportunity for income through further increase in the value of land has very suddenly disappeared. Land values therefore should be thought of only in terms of the income which can be made off the land.

"There is going to require much closer attention to principles of good farm organization and operation than was true during the time when land was owned largely for the speculative gain which could be secured by holding land for advances in price."

Perhaps we have not yet hit the low point in land prices. Threatened invasions of the corn borers into Illinois has tended to push land values farther down than they should go. Nevertheless, it is safe prediction that the man who can safely judge his own managing ability and who is a capable manager may find farming a paying business on the basis of present selling price of land."

COOKING SCHOOL ECHOES

How I make Cakes—perfect every time!

Success depends on following the recipe and method carefully. So be sure to read your recipe and method through to the end before you start to work. Then start your oven, get out all the utensils you will need and grease your pans.

When you grease them with Crisco, you do not need to flour them. Crisco contains no moisture to cause your cakes to stick to the pans and scorch. Therefore, your cakes will come out whole, with no unsightly breaks, and an even brown all over.

Measurements must be accurate
Here is a way I have found to measure shortening accurately. To measure, for example, $\frac{1}{4}$ of a cup of Crisco, I take a measuring cup, put in $\frac{1}{4}$ cup of cold water, then add enough Crisco to bring the water to the top of the cup, pour it off, and I have an exact $\frac{1}{4}$ cup of Crisco.

The importance of the right shortening
I used to make all my cakes with butter. After I began to make my cakes with Crisco, using no butter at all, I found that they were perfectly delicious and my reputation as a cake-maker was just as high as ever. When my Crisco cakes are compared with cakes made with butter, no one can tell the difference.

If you are one of those who simply find it unbelievable that you can use all Crisco in cakes, try half butter and half Crisco at first. Then next time, perhaps, three-fourths Crisco and one-fourth butter. I am sure you will be so pleased with the results, that before you know it you will be using all Crisco for all your cakes.

Importance of creaming shortening and sugar

Not everyone realizes the importance of creaming the shortening and sugar together. The purpose is to soften the grains of sugar, and this is done by beating the sugar with the shortening until the mixture is soft and fluffy, and does not feel grainy to the spoon.

To have your layers even and of uniform thickness, divide your batter in equal parts and spread evenly over the bottom of the pans.

Correct baking temperature important

Up-to-date recipes give you correct temperature. If you are an experienced cake-maker and have never used a thermometer, you, of course, have your favorite way of testing your oven for the proper heat. If not, I advise you to buy an inexpensive oven thermometer. It will be a great help to you.

If you have your own favorite cake recipes, simply use Crisco in the place of the shortening your recipe calls for, adding 1 teaspoon of salt to every cup of Crisco used.

Prune Cake

2 cups pastry flour $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon allspice
1/2 cup Crisco $\frac{1}{4}$ cup strewed dried prunes
2 eggs (separated) 1 cup sugar
1 teaspoon cinnamon $\frac{1}{2}$ cup sweet milk
1/2 teaspoon salt

Cream Crisco and sugar thoroughly. Add egg yolks well beaten. Then stir in prunes. Sift together, soda, spices, salt and flour and add alternately with milk. Last fold in beaten egg whites. Bake in loaf pan, one hour in moderate oven (325° F.). Be sure prunes are thoroughly drained of all juice.

An Astonishing Blindfold Test

SEE if this doesn't give you the greatest surprise of your whole cooking experience!

Put a little Crisco on the tip of one spoon. On the tip of another place a little of the fat you are now using; have someone blindfold you, and give you first one, then the other fat to taste.

Now, did you ever imagine there could be such a striking difference in the taste of raw cooking fat? Think what an improvement Crisco's sweetness and freshness will make in your own cakes, pies, biscuits and fried foods.

2 teaspoons baking powder
2 cups flour $\frac{1}{2}$ cup milk
3 egg whites $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon vanilla

Cream Crisco with sugar. Stir in alternately milk and sifted dry ingredients. Fold in thoroughly beaten egg whites. Add vanilla and turn batter into two greased layer pans. Bake in a moderate oven (350° F.). Ice with Seven Minute Icing.

Seven Minute Icing
1/2 cup sugar $\frac{1}{2}$ egg
1/2 cup cream of tartar or baking powder $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon vanilla

Place all ingredients in top part of double broiler, having water in lower part boiling. Beat together until thick enough to spread. Add vanilla.

Precaution—Have fine sugar or melt it in water before adding egg.

EASTER FESTIVAL FIRST CHRISTIAN WORLD OBSERVED

Even Outdates Christmas as Day of Rejoicing Among Christians

Easter commemorating to Christian believers the Resurrection of the Saviour of Mankind, and almost universally observed as a day of time of joy and festivity, is the newest of the festivals in the Christian Calendar. Easter signifies the formal dawn of Spring. Winter is at an end; the trees and flowers, stirring from their clumps and throwing off their coverlets of snow, put forth bud and blossom; the air is balmy in the air. It is the real awakening of the new year.

Easter even antedates Christmas as a day of Christian rejoicing. While Easter or Pascha—ancient designation of the day has been observed from the time of the foundation of the Christian religion, it was not until our centuries after the birth of Jesus of Nazareth, that His natal day was set apart for general commemoration. Indeed, the origin of the Easter festival is traced still further back into the past to the institution of the old Jewish Feast of the Passover. According to a Church historian, "The first Christians being derived from, or intimately connected with the Jewish Church, naturally continued to observe Jewish festivals, though in a new spirit, as commemorative of events of which those had been shadows. The Passover, ennobled by the thought of Christ as the true Pascal Lamb, continued to be celebrated and became the Christian Easter."

A modern instance of like adoption of a Christian use is reported by Galen M. Clark of the "Creative Forces in Japan." One of them, he says, "is the joyous Buddhist Feast of all Spirits, when torches and lanterns are set a-twinkling far and wide in the rice fields, and the candles are lighted indoors amid feasting and merriment. The change into a commemoration of All Souls, marked by a service of praise for departed relatives and friends, is being made by not a few churches. Another is the Buddhist Feast of Pine Fruit, when the pine tree is presented as the gods of fertility; it is found by Christians to be a natural occasion for a service of praise and thanksgiving to the Giver of all good."

As leading to the joyous observance of Easter, increasing importance has been attached by Christ's peoples late years to Long, or God's, or Good Friday, as it is variously known. The day on which the tragedy of the Cross was enacted on the Hill of Golgotha is the most solemn within the Christian calendar. It is often reflected in the affairs of the secular world most of the states of the nation having made it a legal holiday.

In the unfolding years the Easter season, with the Lenten period immediately preceding it, has received added emphasis in the general adaptation of secular affairs to the spirit of the time. Theatrical and operatic enter- tainments, pageants, and save for charitable effort, social halls and its activities. Especially notable has been the growth in recent years of the noon-day observance of the Lenten season as displayed in the giving over of theaters, halls and business stores in large cities to noon meetings at which leaders prominent among the clergy and laity strike the practical Christian note. These noon-day Lenten services are now a marked feature of the season, and it is not uncommon in cities like Boston, Philadelphia, Chicago, Boston and others in the south and west for crowds mounting into the thousands to assemble at the noon hour for these half hourly respite from worldly affairs.

There is a general let down in trade, too, preparatory to the awakening following Easter which, in a purely business way, comes to rank in importance with the Christmas Season, not alone in its gift exchanging features, but in its more spiritual features. Musical genius has been lavished, however, in compositions breathing the Easter spirit, and has been upon the birthday of the Christ child and the musical programs on Easter Sunday in the larger churches have come to rank with those of the Christmas festival.

Early differences arose as to the precise day on which the Easter festi-

Legislators Walked Out on Message from Governor

Madison, Wis., April 15—(AP)—Declining the refusal of the assembly yesterday to hear a special message of Governor Zimmerman was a shameful incident, and action being signed today by some members of the assembly who proposed to ask that the statement be spread on the house journal as a protest against "the discourteous and disorderly procedure."

The resolution to be offered as a resolution, declares "the message, regardless of its content, deserves the respectful recognition of the assembly."

Circulation of the petition came last night after the walkout of the house with a special message from Governor Zimmerman taking the legislature to task for "laxity" was being read.

Characterizing the message as an assembly, interrupted its reading, and an unrecd motion for adjournment was adopted.

South American Temblor Felt Over Thousand Miles

Santiago, Chile, April 15—(AP)—Fire in the summer resort of Macatawa Park, near here, destroyed between 50 and 60 summer residences and damaged a score of others today. Total damage was estimated at $300,000.

The flames razed a string of cot-ties located on the picturesque hillside running upward from Lake

Michigan for a distance of about a quarter of a mile. The fire was checked at the peak of the hill.

Many of the houses destroyed were owned by residents of Chicago, St. Louis, Grand Rapids and Detroit.

Chicago — Some unnamed British lord is shy $25,000 and as a result Gen. Tunney is unlikely to permit Britishers to look him over. Manager Billy Gibson says his lordship was supposed to make an advance two weeks ago and "unless the dough is placed on top of the barrel, Tunney will not go on the boat."

INDUSTRIAL B. B.
LEAGUE BANQUET
VINDS UP SEASON

*Trophy is Presented to Winning Case Team:
Many Toasts*

The Industrial basket ball league wound up a most successful season Wednesday evening with a banquet at the Y. M. C. A. every player being present. After the dinner, Mr. Yohn, the physical director, introduced Mr. Kellor, the general secretary, who served as toastmaster. Prof. J. E. Potter, who served as referee during the past season, was introduced and gave a talk that put everybody into a good humor. He praised the men for the fine sportsmanship displayed through-out the season and complimented the teams on their faithfulness to the schedule, not one game being forfeited during the winter.

Short talks were given by C. L. Huening, J. Cowley, G. L. Biggs, D. R. McMaster, E. Slothrop, Richard Welch, G. Rhoads, Chas. Kerz and O. W. Koch.

C. D. Trotter, superintendent of the Reynolds Wire Co., and chairman of the Industrial Committee, presented the trophy to the J. J. Case team who won it with a perfect record, not one game being lost during the season. Milton Vaughn received it for the Case team, thanking the players of the teams for the fine spirit shown at all times and commending the Y. M. C. A. for the unselfish manner in which the building and equipment had been placed at the disposal of the league. C. M. Yohn, physical director spoke briefly in behalf of the association and assured the league of cooperation of amateur sports.

Albert Spindlin, magician, entertained the company with an exhibition of sleight of hand and proved to all that he is a past master in the art of legerdemain.

Indications point to a bigger and better league next season, every team announcing its intention of remaining in the league and no doubt several new teams will be lined up.

BAND DIRECTOR ILL. The Y. Band rehearsal, scheduled for Wednesday evening did not materialize as the director, Jos. Glavin, is confined to his home with an infection. However, the band met at the Y and partook of a lunch as a special treat for this week.

Such is Conclusion of National Business
Mens Committee

New York, April 15—(AP)—General agricultural depression exists and calls for consideration as a national economic question, says a preliminary report of the Business Men's Committee on Agriculture.

"The evidence is practically unanimous upon the fact of depression, but it is varied and at times contradictory both as to the cause and to remedies".

"Some of the difficulties are regional and, it is hoped, ephemeral", he said. "Those who have been consulted practically agree that the country's heritage of fertile land is being impaired and that for some, if not many, years we have been living on our agricultural capital".

Meetings were held in New York, Chicago, Des Moines, Kansas City, Dallas, Atlanta and the Pacific coast. The commission was formed last November by the National Industrial Conference Board and the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

Easter in the Churches

CHRISTIAN CHURCH

The church's highest day of worship and praise comes Sunday with the celebration of the Resurrection Victory. None should neglect or slight this day. Our congregation approaches it with manifold causes for joy, along with all Christendom; yet with deep humility and self-abnegation. He died that we might live. Do men yet really live?

Early prayers at 7 o'clock, directed by the Christian Endeavorers. A most beautiful order of service with no addresses. The nine o'clock Easter devotion for Bible School Officers and Teachers will precede the Bible School session, which opens at 9:30. In the school each class will make its annual contribution for support of the retired ministers and missionaries—$135.00 the aim for the entire school.

There will be special numbers of Easter music by the choir at the morning service, with emphasis in this service, however, laid upon the sermon and the decisions for Christ and reception of new members. The pastor's Easter classes of young people will make their confessions of faith at this time. The sermon-subject will be, "It is Now, the Third Day."

At 4:30 the beautiful cantata, "Easter Victory" will be presented as a Vesper Service by the Choir of twenty voices, assisted by Mmes. Merrill and Huyett and Messrs. Conrad and Missman, of choirs in sister churches in the city. This cantata has been given much work by the choir and Miss Foto, director, and the church confidently invites the community to share in its enjoyment.

There will be no evening Christian Endeavor, but the Bible School's annual Easter program comes at 7:30, a pageant, "Heralds of Victory" in which forty or more persons, children and adults, engage. Baptism of the new members of the day will close this service, and what promises to be a climax of power and joy in the life of the church.

The church wishes all other churches of the community happiest and most spiritual experiences and experiences this Easter of 1927.

TO BIBLE SCHOOLS OF DIXON DISTRICT

Palm Sunday's record of attendance in our six schools fell a bit below figures hundred for the total, with three schools not reporting. Let all leaders remember that two thousand five hundred is the slogan for Easter. With many single schools over the line no longer than a thousand in either, a low aim for us to expect no more than a fourth or a fifth of our population honoring God's Word and the Resurrection Fact and Hope in this way.

The officers of the District express appreciation for the good spirit of ambition and progress manifest and also for the co-operative attitude of our leaders. As last week, please send the undersigned. It early returns to the Bob Ward, poor college student, working as a dancing partner for rich women, falls in love with Sally Smith, a cigarette girl. She warns him against the mysterious and beautiful Mrs. Hammond, habitue of the roadhouse, who finds her "thrill" in "hunting" Bob, who, however, trusts her. She offers him free use of her secret apartment. Bob quarrels with Sally, breaks up a wild party she attends, and goes to Mrs. Hammond. Sally and her friend Mavis Revere learn that Mrs. Hammond is the wife of Aldrich, a great financier.

SYNOPSIS

"Everything is lovely, Bob, except a homely atmosphere. I'll run into the bedroom and put on my negligee. My lovely negligee that I have been saving especially for this precious hour—the most precious boy in the world!"

Bob forced himself to smile; and when, in getting to her feet with the aid of his outstretched hand, she suddenly lunged herself into his lap, melted into the strength and youth of his splendid body, Bob felt himself forced, through a sense of obligation if not of reciprocal passion, to display interest.

There came a furious ringing of the bell.

"Don't go! It's nothing—nobody! Don't go!" pleaded Mrs. Hammond, in a tense, thickened voice, fighting frantically to prevent this imminent moment of consummate thrill from coming. Bob hesitated; but when the clamor continued, he put Mrs. Hammond from him, and strode to the door.

When he opened it, Sally stepped in, and cried, "Thank God we're in time!"

She bent a hateful look toward Mrs. Hammond. In that woman's hard breathing and rumpled condition, Sally read that her prayerful ejaculation of relief applied as significantly to Bob's virtue as to his life.

She looked bravely up into Bob's face, and said: "Her husband is coming here now to kill you!"

Bob merely shrugged. He was not one to run away from threatened danger. Somehow, though, he couldn't feel so brave under the frank gaze of Little Sally Smith. Somehow, the miasmic odor of the flesh trap that had been intoxicating him in this room, along with Mrs. Hammond, had cleared with the bright advent of Sally's combed-honey hair.

He felt the sweetness of that first day, a week since, rushing back into his consciousness.

"Oh, Bob, I can explain everything!" pleaded Sally.

Mavis broke in. "Say, Big Boy, you won't be showing no white feather, but just common sense, if you mosey along with us right now. You needn't have no squeams about leaving that Fanny in there because she's a snake in the grass. She put Mannion up to buying those clothes, and me up to inviting him and Sally so she could have a clear field with you. I'll furnish you with the whole details, only not now. There's a nut coming here with a gun! He'd have been here by now, only I slipped the dormitory, the telephone operator, and the elevator boy twenty bucks each to give him a bum steer and take him to the roof and lose him, until we had time to clear out."

Sally took hold of Bob's hands. It was like some magic flowing into his veins.

Mavis was chuckling: "Where's them ideals you was so particular about? Come on, Big Boy, let's go!"

CHAPTER XVI—Continued

Scarcely three weeks after the exciting events of that Sunday afternoon, the purple shadows of a perfect June afternoon were darkling the Hudson, far below the Hall of Fame, while the last rays of the sun, as it slid like a great flaming wafer down behind the black rim of the Palisades across the river, gilded the domes and roofs of the University buildings.

Aldrich stepped back; whipped a pistol from his pocket, and declared:

"Both of them will suffer for this. Both!"

Then he was gone, ravishing.

Raw fear paralyzed Sally. Oh, what had she done, in her spitefulness? Not alone Mrs. Hammond, but Bob, too, would suffer. She fell on her knees before Mavis.

"Mavis, Mavis, take me there, to Mrs. Hammond's apartment, quick! Please, for God's sake. We must beat Aldrich there, or he'll kill Bob!"

"Serve him right!" declared Mavis. But Sally's frantic pleadings moved her, despite herself. Swiftly she threw on a cloak, and raced downstairs to the train with Sally.

Meanwhile, in the cozy studio of the loveliest apartment, Bob Ward sat in a deep chair before the fireplace. There was everything to make him comfortable—and beautiful Mrs. Hammond was curled up on a fluffy bearskin rug at his feet, her gorgeous head pillowved on his knee. But Bob was far from comfortable. Youth goes to extremes in all things, and then tries to take the first train back. But here was a ravishingly beautiful woman to keep Bob to the cynical and immoral tangent on which he had flown off when disillusionment gripped him. In sheer bitterness of heart, malice of soul, Bob had sworn all the things that up to now he had held dear in life, and had flung himself hotly to Mrs. Hammond.

Already her eyes were misted, her voice low and vibrant with passion, as she anticipated the Sicilian hours with her young Adonis in this luxurious temple of love.

THIS WON'T HURT A BIT

Seattle—Isolated settlements along the Alaskan coast and the Aleutian Islands will be visited by a floating dental office this spring. Dr. William F. Goode, dentist and skipper of a 40-foot schooner carrying the equipment, is taking the trip as a vacation and intends to relieve the toothaches of all the white men and Eskimos in the isolated places.

GENIUS KILLED HIM

Omaha, Neb.—The "human adding machine," George H. Wood, who died recently, was a victim of general exhaustion from the strains of working on his system, physicians believe. Wood, through intense concentration, could beat operators of adding machines in totalling long lists of figures.

ARMOUR GRAIN CO. LIQUIDATION NOW BEING EFFECTED

Work Has Been Progressing Since July 1925
Officers State

Chicago, April 15—(AP)—The Armour Grain Company, ordered suspended from privileges on the Board of Trade, is in process of liquidation.

This was announced last night by Phillip L. Armour and Lester Armour, nephews of J. Ogden Armour, in a statement explaining that the concern had been liquidating both its property and its grain since July, 1925.

Progress however, had been hampered, it was stated, because the company also had been engaged in liquidating the grain marketing company, the defunct cooperative merging.

The statement revealed that in July, 1925 the two Armour's "voluntarily guaranteed the entire outstanding amount of acceptances of the grain marketing company" and that these had been "fully paid off."

The Armour Grain Company was suspended, effective Saturday, by directors of the Board of Trade after they had heard a preliminary report from a special committee which cleared testimony "clearly showed wrongfull acts" by persons not members of the board.

The board is continuing its inquiry. Two months will be required, it was indicated, to hear testimony upon which any action looking to the suspension of individual members of the Armour Company from the board might be taken.

A state investigation will be continued tomorrow. A move by a federal agency also has been made in sub-mission of suggestions concerning grain trading.

TOLL OF TORNADO IN TEXAS 61 DEAD AND 170 INJURED

Relief Work in Storm Destroyed Village is Continuing

Rock Springs, Texas, April 15—(AP)—Military rule today placed relief and salvage operations on an efficient schedule as the casualty list in the tornado that razed this plateau town Tuesday night, stood at 61 dead, four missing and 170 injured.

More than seventy of the more seriously injured were in hospitals at San Antonio. About the same number received treatment in an improvised hospital at Camp Wood.

Two women and a child died at San Antonio late last night. A man died on a Red-Cross train yesterday while a woman succumbed in one of the ten ambulances that transported the injured.

Uvalde, 72 miles away, continued as relief headquarters, where the Red-Cross supervised evacuation of the injured and dispatched supplies to 700 survivors.

Highways weakened by floods and slippery mountain roads slowed traffic from several nearby towns.

With cavalrymen on guard, relief was well organized. About thirty of the dead were buried in a hillside cemetery yesterday. Dynamite was used to dig the graves.
